

BRAD DAMM

Brad Damm is our company Vice President and serves as an at large member of the company Board of Directors. He has overseen all sales, marketing and brand management efforts for CubCrafters since May of 2018. Having led high-performing sales teams for over 20 years, Brad is an expert in communicating value and differentiation in a clear, consistent, and compelling way to fuel consumer interest and drive corporate revenue growth.

Since first joining CubCrafters in 2013, Brad has served as the Factory Direct Sales Manager, Director of Sales Support, Global Director of Sales, and as Vice President of Sales and Marketing. With Brad serving in those capacities, the company has seen new sales records year after year across all of CubCrafters new aircraft and kit product lines, and the CubCrafters brand has risen to new levels of awareness and respect with aviation consumers worldwide.

Prior to joining the company, Brad served for over 10 years as the Business Development Manager for one of the largest commercial concrete contractors in the Pacific Northwest, again, driving the sales and revenue growth that allowed the company to expand from a few dozen to hundreds of employees.

Brad first fell in love with backcountry flying while pursuing a Forest Management degree at Oregon State University in 1990s, and now has over 25 years of flight experience in the types of primitive and remote area flight operations that CubCrafters aircraft are designed for. Combining this deep operational experience with his intimate knowledge of the aviation consumer, Brad is also an invaluable contributor to product development at CubCrafters, helping to both define the product roadmap overall and also to refine specialized product designs for the best-of-class aircraft the company is known for.

It was his love of flying in remote areas that brought Brad to CubCrafters in the first place, and now, to give back, he uses his specialized aviation skills and CubCrafters aircraft to fly low and slow in remote mountainous terrain as a volunteer pilot for the Klickitat County Sheriff's office, where he is involved in multiple aerial search and rescue missions each year to help the citizens of Washington State.
